WATCH: LSU football QBs during team's first preseason practiceLSU football quarterbacks Garrett Nussmeier (13), Rickie Collins (10), A.J. Swann (15) and Colin Hurley (16) work during the first fall practice.BATON ROUGE — LSU football hosts South Alabama for its final nonconference game of the season inside Tiger Stadium on Saturday night.The No. 13 Tigers (3-1) come into the Week 5 game on a three-game winning streak, including winning their SEC opener two weeks ago at South Carolina and more recently a 34-17 victory over UCLA at home last weekend. LSU quarterback Garrett Nussmeier has played like one of the top signal callers in college football as he ranked second in the FBS in passing touchdowns with 13 through four games while completing more than 70% of his passes.South Alabama sports a two-game win streak heading into Death Valley, including dropping 87 points against Northwestern State in a game that was shortened due to point differential. The Jaguars (2-2) ran Appalachian State out of its own stadium last weekend, winning 48-14. The LSU Football team is just four days away from kicking off their season on Sunday night against the USC Trojans. The Tigers will look to win their first season opener since the 2019 National Championship season. The game will be just the third matchup between LSU and USC as the teams are currently tied 1-1 in the season series.The game will be played in the Las Vegas Raiders' Allegiant Stadium which has been sold out for close to a month. Here are all the details you'll need for the upcoming game:Where can I watch the game and when will it take place?The LSU Tigers will kick their season off on Sunday night in a standalone game against the Trojans. The game is slated to kick off at 7:30 PM Eastern, 6:30 Central Time or 4:30 Pacific Time if you're on the West Coast for the game. If you'd like to watch the game, it'll be available on ABC or if you're an ESPN+ subscriber you can stream it from any device. On the call, will be ESPN's A-Team of Kirk Herbstreit, Rece Davis, and Holly Rowe on the sidelines.Where can I listen on radio?If you're unable to watch the game but, are looking to listen on radio, you're in luck. The game will be broadcast on LSU Sports Radio Network (96.1 FM in Baton Rouge) and on Sirius XM's ESPN radio.Are there injuries to watch for?On the LSU side, there's only one injury to watch and that's wide receiver Chris Hilton Jr. who's questionable with a bone bruise. USC Defensive Back Zion Branch has been dealing with a finger/hand injury but, he appears ready to go for the game.The biggest storyline for the LSU Football team in this season opener is breaking their dreadful streak of losing season openers. The Tigers haven't won a season opener since the 2019 National Championship season. Brian Kelly is 0-2 in season openers at LSU which is a trend that needs to change especially with the arrival of the 12 team College Football playoff.More LSU Football News: LSU baseball kicked off its SEC Tournament run with a 4-3 win over Texas A&M on Friday night.
